FIGHTING IN ALPINE ITALY.

These views of the fighting ground between Italy and Austria (reproduced from official photographs) show the enormous difficulties in the way of the progress of either side into the territory of the other. Among the names will be recognised many that have become familiar to readers through their oft-repeated occurrence in our cable messages.

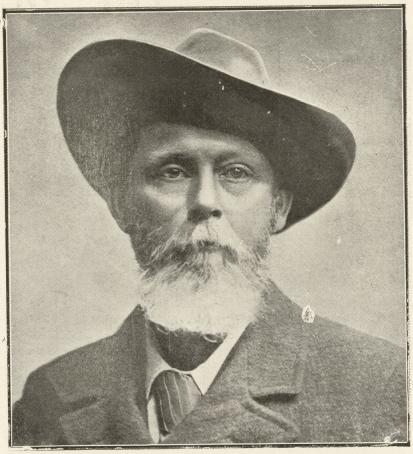

THE DEPOSED TSAR NICHOLAS II. AND HIS SON AND HEIR, GRAND DUKE ALEXIS NICOLAIEVITCH, NOW IN HIS 13th YEAR.

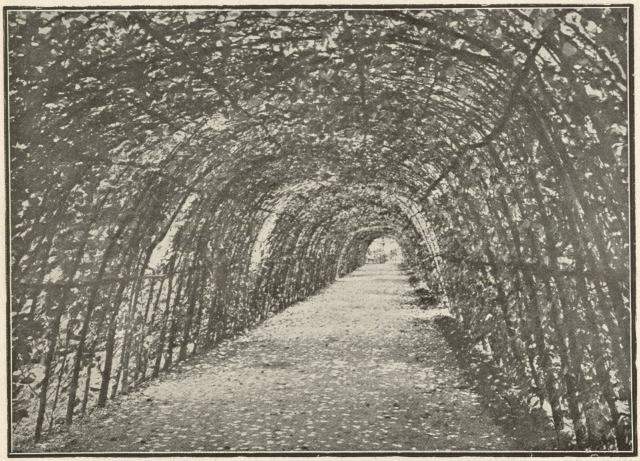

A NOTED AFRICAN HUNTER.

The late Captain F. C. Selous, killed in action in German East Africa.—See page 29.

BRISBANE'S FIRST FIRE BRIGADE (VOLUNTEER).

For this old picture (taken in 1868) we are indebted to Mr. J. Martin, 783 Brunswick-street. Those in the group are :—Front row : The late Mr. George Prentice and Mr. J. Martin (formerly of the Civet Cat, a well-known Brisbane fancy goods emporium). Back : Mr. — Pike, Mr. D. R. Eden (a well-known dentist, still practising in Brisbane), and the late Mr. B. Simmonds (familiarly known as "Barney").

IN AN OLD ENGLISH GARDEN.

Nothing strikes the Australian visitor in England more forcibly than the beautifully laid out gardens, both public and private, some of them hundreds of years old. Among the features of Kensington Gardens is this "pleached" alley or archway of limes, with peep holes cut at intervals to permit a good view of the garden from different points. A gateway on each of the four sides opens into the garden. Our illustration is from the "Field."

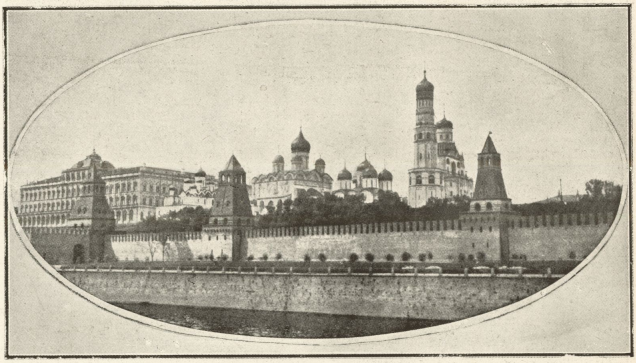

A CURIOUS SHELTER.

On the Monastir Front some of the French soldiers have ingeniously utilised the curious corn baskets of the country as shelters.—The "Field."

THE RUSSIAN REVOLUTION.

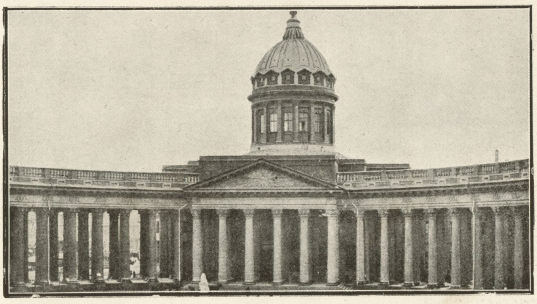

THE MASKAYA STREET, PETROGRAD, SHOWING THE ENTRANCE TO THE WAR OFFICE.

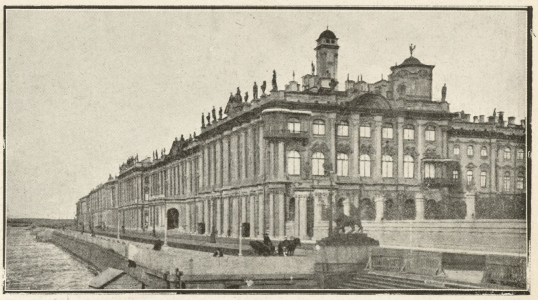

THE FAMOUS KREMLIN AT MOSCOW, NOW IN POSSESSION OF THE REVOLUTIONISTS.

THE NEVSKY PROSPECT, THE "PICCADILLY" OF PETROGRAD.

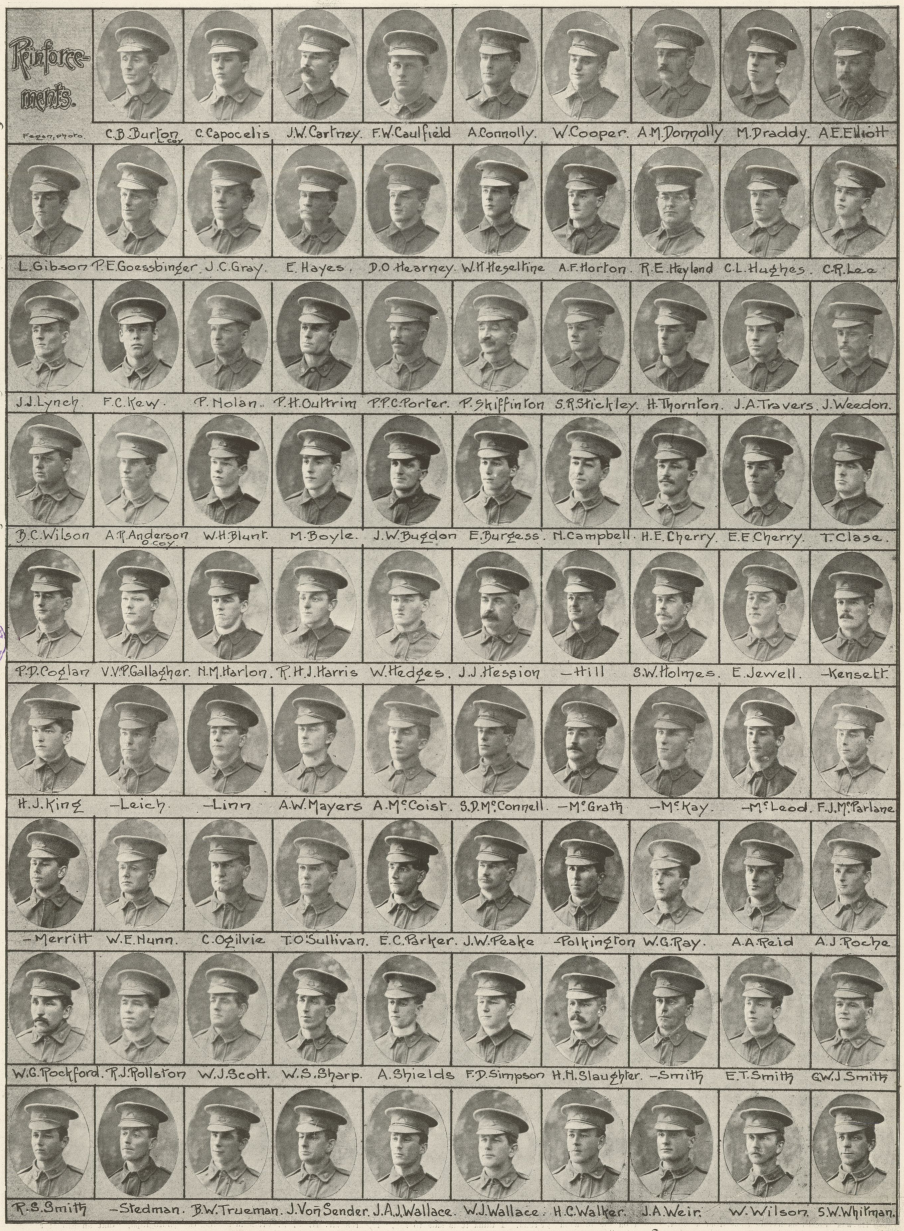

THE KAZAN CATHEDRAL, ON THE NEVSKY PROSPECT.
The most important ecclesiastical edifice in Petrograd after the Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul.

THE CELEBRATED WINTER PALACE, PETROGRAD.
Sometimes used as a winter residence by the Royal Family.

The Clermont Railway Again.

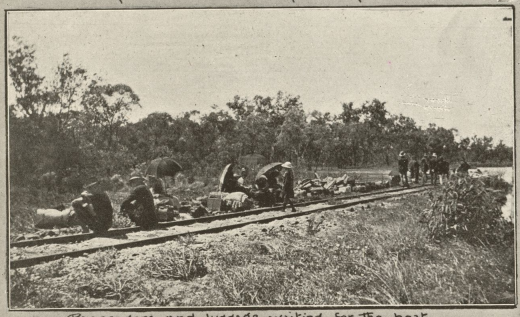

Theresa Creek, on the Rockhampton-Clermont line, has again been in flood, submerging the bridge. Photos. by S. D. Sandes.

The train arrives at the creek.

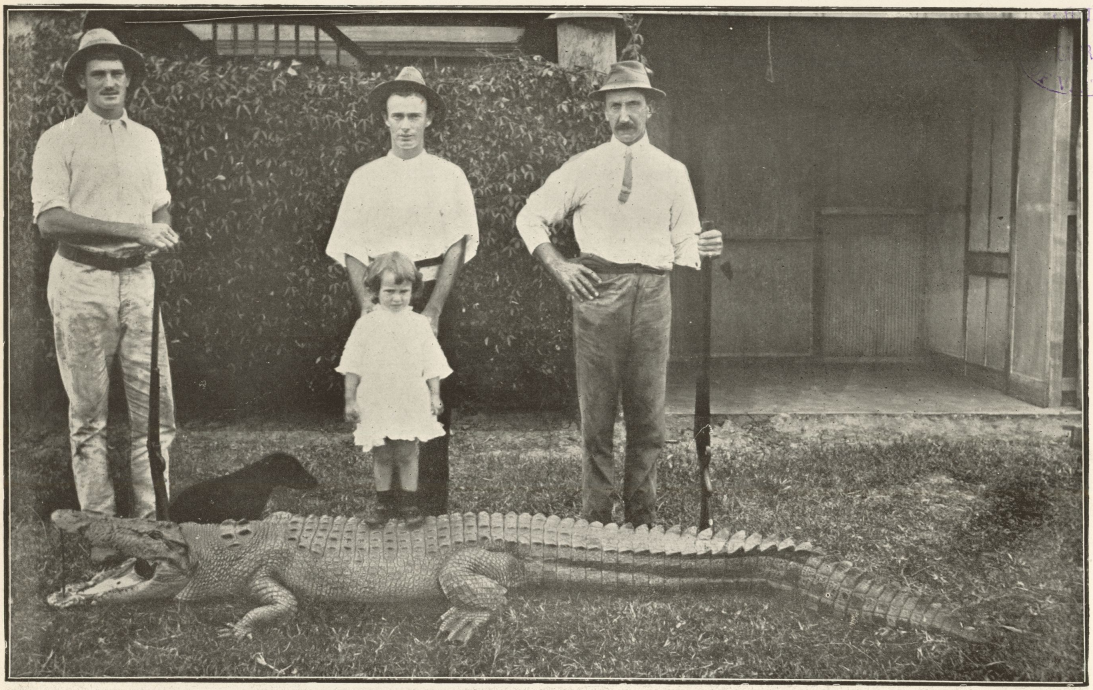

Where is the bridge?

AN ELEVEN-FOOT "ALLIGATOR" SHOT IN A CANEFIELD NEAR AYR, LOWER BURDEKIN.

He was tracked as having come from a small lagoon on the Brandon-Ayr road. I think it is safe to say," remarks Mr. H. C. P. Crees in sending the photograph, "that an alligator has never before been known to wander so far from water."
